

Dear Hiring Manager:

I am reaching out to express my interest in opportunities within web design, UX/UI, or technology at your organization. I am a Donaghey Honors student at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock, studying Web Design and Development with a focus on UX design. With growing professional experience and a strong foundation in design and front-end development, I am eager to contribute my skills to a forward-thinking tech team.

Throughout my academic and internship experiences, I have developed strong capabilities in HTML, CSS, Figma, and Adobe Illustrator, Photoshop, and InDesign. I enjoy designing user-centered interfaces that balance clarity, accessibility, and visual appeal. My work consistently reflects careful attention to detail, thoughtful layout decisions, and a commitment to creating seamless user experiences.

In my role as an IT Operations Intern at US Able Life, I support website design, internal communication platforms, and organizational technology needs. I have created and maintained internal web pages, configured and deployed devices, and collaborated across departments to troubleshoot technical issues. This experience has strengthened my adaptability, communication skills, and ability to contribute effectively in a team-driven environment.

My time working at Walmart previously helped me develop strong problem-solving abilities, organization, and customer-focused communication skills that continue to support my work in technology and design today.

Overall, my background reflects a blend of technical ability, visual design skill, and hands-on IT experience that allows me to approach challenges creatively and efficiently.

Thank you for taking the time to review my application. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my skills and experiences can support your team's goals. Please feel free to contact me at your convenience. I look forward to connecting.

Sincerely yours,

Zachary Harrison
